

John Lechleiter, CEO, Eli Lilly and Company

September 25, 2:30-3:30 p.m.
Loeb Playhouse, Purdue University

John Lechleiter

COLLABORATION INNOVATION OPPORTUNITY

Biopharmaceutical companies and research universities are forming new collaborative relationships to advance R&D on innovative medicines — a response to the opportunity created by an explosion of scientific knowledge and growing demand for new medicines, and to the pressures weighing on the traditional models of both industry and academia. New working relationships are speeding advances and creating new opportunities for researchers across the innovation network.

Introduction by Purdue President Mitch Daniels

GLOBAL POLICY
RESEARCH INSTITUTE

Hosted by the Office of the Executive Vice President for Research and Partnerships